Richard the King

Henry as King

From the highest as King to the lowest.

The correct way: Henry rises to the highest position from the lowest and Richard goes bucket and one's heart is high with the raising of the other. The diagram explains it in analog of the buckets. I interpreted it as one's heart is low on the lowering of the

On the midterm I received low points when describing and interpreting Richard's

Henry IV Structure

26 July 2002
English 250
Professor Parkley
Stacy Baker

Baker